Hello, Hello, Hello you gorgeous human beings, it is Suzy Ashworth here and you are listening to the infinite receiving podcast. And I wanted to share with you today a little bit of a behind the scenes. Because once again, there are huge huge shifts happening in my business. And actually it doesn't escape me that it's 10 years this year, since I had my first business idea that was legal. Keeping it real, keeping it real.

But my first proper business idea that was not only legal, but had legs. And that was the calmbirth school. I don't know when you're going to listen to this, but I was in the March 2013 at cohort of B School. And it was three weeks into that programme that I had the idea for the calmbirth school. So it is almost 10 years to the minute ish that I had my first business idea and that, for me is quite profound. And it doesn't feel weird, actually, it feels right and proper, that an old cycle has been completed. And now we are moving into this new cycle a decade later. And you know what else is absolutely like, I'm just as I'm talking, I'm seeing more and more things. But what was incredible about that idea was that, first of all, it was working with parents. And then it was taking my method and sharing that with other people so that they could teach my method, which was the calmbirth school at that time. And now is being run incredibly well by the amazing new owner, and co author of the calmbirth method book, Liz Stamford she's, I think she's not no, not new anymore. She's I think she'd been running the show for about, I don't know, four or five years. So she's not new. But what's amazing is thinking about what I have been doing is working with the client, the end user for many, many years when it comes to business coaching when it comes to mindset coaching. And when I launched infinite receiving it was really, this is my method for creating a life that blows me away beyond my imagination every single day.

And I want to share this with you, the client, the end user, where the shift is coming and where the full circle is happening is that I want to be able to teach people why what it is that I say works, both the art and the science. And it really became apparent to me just recently how, how easy it is to put myself in the box mindset and energetics in the box of Whoo. And why does it work? I don't know that person said that I should say 15 affirmations a day and that will change my life. So that's what I'm doing. But why does it work? Well, I don't know. And it really, really struck me that moving forward, even after all of the success that I have seen personally and professionally just by saying, This is what I do do this, this is what I've done do that. This is what I've seen, this is what I've observed do this that actually I want to be able to tell you on why what I'm doing and how I'm sharing what they are and what the science is behind it why it works. And so the full circle moment is going back into no longer just coaching but back into teaching As we launched the infinite receiving coaching certification, and this is I'm gonna allow this story to come through over a number of episodes. But I just wanted to share with you where, where I'm at, and where the infinite receiving brand is going. This coaching certification already feels so huge as in the life of it, the soul of it, the pulse of it. And it feels wildly, wildly exciting to break down. Everything that I have intuitively known to be true. And what has worked for me over the last decade at work for so many clients over the last 10 years, is to break down the science of it. So that no longer actually do we sit in the kind of woowoo place. But this is grounded in the physiological, the neuro logical, this is grounded in both the physiological and the neurological as well as the energetic systems and being able to break down those 10 plates in a way that makes sense for the brain. And how you then should you decide to want to come and play with us are able to coach and support yourself, like yourself first, always yourself. And then if you desire to take it to clients. So it's a whole new world at the same time as going back to what I was doing right at the beginning. And it feels exciting, and it feels like a significant shift to the business. You know, from a business coaching perspective moving forward, I will only really be working with people from a mastermind and a one to one level. So you're already going to be doing the do and so much more of the focus is going to be on really helping people who want to change their own lives through the infinite receiving method. And for those who want to change their own lives and understand how it works, and take it into their business. And perhaps car coach for the first time, you're going to be able to do that with the coaching certification. So it's all pretty crazy. And it feels there's a lot of grounding, that I am doing on a daily basis to really just stay in the zone and focused on what this what this means because it feels really big. And for those of you who are interested, actually, I did a little live on Instagram a couple of weeks ago, which we will link in the show notes about how to deal with change. And this awareness of what is going on really comes from understanding that change gets to be safe, it gets to be okay, and what happens when you feel change and knocking. And if you are anything like me, and like constant growth and evolution and transformation is part of your DNA, or you know that you desire it, but you've been resisting it and can't work out why? Check out that Instagram, because that live really starts to put the colour in into the collar on the picture when it comes to working out. If I want to transform, what are these early stages, and the first piece is like, acknowledging what is required when changes saying I'm here, and it's necessary. Let's do this. And that's exactly where we are in the business right now. It's exciting. And it's scary. And and it's perfect.

So I'd be like this little update, I would love to know what is going on with you. Where are you feeling big changes being called. And if you are interested in being the first to know when we open the doors for Early Bird registration for the infinite receiving coaching certification. We've also linked a there's a link beneath this episode in the show notes which will show you where you need to go to sign up. Right, you are amazing. And I will see you next time.
